Description

She loves the beautiful watercolor he sent--wishes he'd do more; her father is coming home Friday; she loves the wonderful letters and postcards and the drawing made her laugh; she's been working out 2-3 times a week and also doing some yoga. The crows have come back after a long absence. She's getting a lot of resentment from the office people. She saw Hubert Humphrey on Joey Bishop last night--bad speaker but a real fighter; LBJ queered the whole Democratic party; she doesn't want Nixon /Agnew or Wallace, so she'll vote for Humphrey; She saw one of Andy Warhol's starlets and some scenes from one of his movies--quite inept; read the diaries of Che Guevara-interesting-sad--their methods were very archaic--they ended up eating their pets and mules and horses.
